Senator Curtis Ready for Long Campaign Tour

First Trip Will Carry Republican Vice-Presidential Candidate Half Way Across the Continent—Will Speak at State Fair at Syracuse August 28.

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 17 (AP).—His 68 years well seasoned by the sun and winds of the western plains, Senator Curtis of Kansas has given ready assent to the call of his party for that heavy role of campaign "stumping" on which it usually relies on its vice-presidential candidate.

Tomorrow Senator Curtis will be notified formally of his nomination by the Republicans for vice-president. Sunday he will set forth on the campaign and his first trip carries the veteran half way across the continent. He will be "riding the trails" much of the time from then until election day in November, a trail that will lead first to the east, thence south, and finally back into his homeland in the middle west and northwest.

"I never felt better in my life," remarked the senator as he discussed plans while sitting on the front porch of his commodious residence on beautiful Topeka avenue. He looked the part. Days spent in his youth on the prairies with his Indian forebears, seasons on the frontier race track, where he was a winning jockey, nights devoted to driving-backs about Topeka while he was studying law have tempered the aging years of this son of Indian and French-Canadian stock.

Rhode Island gets the first call of his speaking tour. He will address a meeting of Republican leaders at Rocky Point August 23. Rhode Island is the adopted state of the senator's daughter, Mrs. Leona Curtis Knight of Providence, who cast a vote for her father for president at the Republican convention and was one of those to second his nomination for vice-president.

From Rhode Island Senator Curtis will go to Syracuse, N. Y., speaking at the state fair there on August 28. Maine and Massachusetts will be visited before he turns southward for Kentucky and probably Tennessee. Beyond that he has no plans, but he has given the world-to-party chieftains mapping out the campaign offensive that he is ready. "I don't mind campaigning," Curtis says. "Seven and eight speeches a day from the middle of September to election day is a regular diet for me. I have done that about Kansas, traveling by automobile, in many a campaign."

Meanwhile he is enjoying the handshaking and visits of old friends here at home as he awaits the notification exercises to be held tomorrow at 5 p. m. on the state house grounds. Smiling and happy, he rocks away on the front porch of his residence with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. Colvin, as neighbors, friends and Kansans, all of whom he seems to know, call by to say hello.

The residence of red painted brick, well-shaded by towering elms, has fallen under the deluge of decorations covering Topeka veritably. Flags and bunting veritably cover the front of the house, and on one corner is one of the large portraits of the vice-presidential candidate which hangs from almost every place of prominence about the city.

Arriving hosts of Republican leaders in the Kansas capital for notification ceremonies drew the senator down to headquarters today, where he could visit more freely. Among those expected today was Senator Fess of Ohio, temporary chairman of the Republican convention, who will inform Senator Curtis formally of his nomination on behalf of the convention.

But Senator Curtis was interested particularly today in the arrival of members of his family, who are coming to join with Kansas in the celebration for his state's first vice-presidential candidate, Mrs. Knight, Harry Curtis of Chicago, a son; and Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Gann of Washington were among the relatives coming. Mrs. Gann is a sister of the senator.

Two aunts, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, who is 91 years old, and Mrs. Ruth Armstrong, both of Topeka, also will be at the notification exercises.

MUSCOLINI'S SONS CARRY OUT HIS MOTTO

Riccione, Italy, Aug. 17 (AP).—While their father was away reviewing the fleet, Premier Mussolini's sons, Bruno and Vittorio, decided to carry out his motto: "Live Dangerously."

The youngsters went up in a hydro-ship for a half hour spin along the coast. Pilot Cesare Sandroni with much misgiving finally yielded to the boys' pleas that he do a bit of stunting. When they came down both boys beamed with delight. They were cheered by a big crowd and waved on by unimpaired at any thought of parental disapproval.

Religious Sail For Paris

Washington, Aug. 17 (AP).—Secretary of State, accompanied by Mrs. Kellogg, will sail from New York tonight for Paris to attend the 15th anniversary of the signing of the peace treaty at Versailles.

Heated Debate Over Religion

Boston Unitarian Pastor Says No Catholic Should Be President—Storm of Protest from Distinguished Audience.

Charlottesville, Va., Aug. 17 (AP).—Tumult engulfed the University of Virginia's Institute of Public Affairs late yesterday when the Presidential eligibility of a Roman Catholic was openly challenged from the speaker's rostrum.

A distinguished audience of public officials, political scientists and newspaper editors greeted with a storm of boos, cat-calls and shouts an assertion that Governor Smith as a devout Catholic is "obedient to the doctrine" of a church that "has never relented by a syllable its absolute claim to primacy over the state."

The speaker was the Rev. Albert C. Dieffenbach of Boston, a prominent Unitarian clergyman and editor of the Christian Register. He declared religion the paramount issue of the Presidential campaign and accused the press of attempting to obscure it in a "smoke screen."

His remarks were immediately disputed by the publisher of the Richmond News Leader, John Stewart Bryan.

"I am going to vote for Al Smith," he shouted, "primarily to show that this country is big enough not to be dictated to by bigotry."

Others clamored for recognition and Victor Rosewater of Philadelphia, the chairman, limited each to a few minutes. The discussion finally became so heated that he brought the debate to a close.

Professor John H. Latane of Johns Hopkins University declared that if Smith should be defeated in the south it would mean the "triumph of intolerance and hypocrisy." Prof. Thomas H. Reed of the University of Michigan said that if the Hoover campaign should place any emphasis upon the religious question he would vote for Smith.

The hope that voters would not be swayed from supporting Hoover by an exaggerated spirit of tolerance was expressed by Willis J. Abbott, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, while Prof. A. H. Hatton of Northwestern University said it could not be denied that the "narrow dogma" of the Catholic Church aroused suspicion and placed the American Catholic in an unfortunate position.

Arising to his own defense, Mr. Dieffenbach declared that his remarks were not prompted by any fear of the Roman Catholic Church.

"It is my love of liberty," he said, "and I warn you of the encroachment. It has been beaten in Mexico, Italy and in France, so why should we not be warned and avoid the strife?"

Elting Attends Morris Funeral

New York, Aug. 17 (AP).—The Episcopal ritual for the burial of the dead was read this morning at the coffin of George K. Morris, late chairman of the Republican state committee.

The service, held in a mortuary chapel on East 57th street, was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Gilbert Ritter, assistant pastor of St. George's Church. Many men and women high in the councils of Mr. Morris's party attended, while prominent Republican leaders in New York were honorary pallbearers.

Members of the family arranged to leave at 2 o'clock today for Amsterdam, Mr. Morris's home, where another service will be conducted tomorrow. Burial will be in Amsterdam.

Among the floral remembrances was a piece from Herbert Hoover, Republican presidential nominee. Others were sent by the National Republican Club, office associates of the state committee here and employees of the United States Customs House.

Among those in attendance at the services were Mayor Walker, Attorney General Ottinger, William Muldoon, of the State Athletic Commission; George R. Lunn, Public Service Commissioner; Philip Eiting, Collector of the Port; William R. Wilcox, former chairman of the Republican national committee; Mrs. Charles H. Sablin and John Marshall, upstate Republican leader.

Dwight W. Morrow, ambassador to Mexico, sent a message of sympathy.

Woman Fatally Burned

Newport, R. I., Aug. 17 (AP).—Mrs. Marion Vander Veer of Newport was fatally burned yesterday when kerosene which she was using to kill garden insects caught fire. She was taken to the Newport Hospital, where she died several hours later. She was the former wife of Lieutenant Commander Norman R. Vander Veer and was a resident of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., before coming to Newport several years ago.

Accepts Position

Joseph Tiano, class of 1926, Moran Business School, has accepted a position in the accounting department of John F. Herbert & Sons, 147-149 Greenkill avenue.

Warm Welcome For Morrow

Puebla, Mexico, Aug. 17 (AP).—Dwight W. Morrow, American ambassador, making what he desired to be merely a personal pleasure trip, is being welcomed with as much pomp and ceremony as the president might receive.

Mr. Morrow was made an honorary citizen of Puebla and welcomed personally on the highway miles from Puebla when he entered the state yesterday by General Fonato. Bravo Izquierdo and a large group of the highest state and city officials.

The ambassador motored into the city past large crowds and was escorted into the municipal palace past lines of cavalry at salute while bands played the Mexican national anthem.

At formal ceremonies in the audience room of the palace, Mr. Morrow was presented with an official scroll that proclaimed him an honorary citizen by vote of the council of the municipality.

Mr. Morrow left the palace in a sort of triumphal procession. A great crowd gathered around the building as the band again hailed the ambassador with the national anthem.

The governor and Mayor Romo Olarril escorted Mr. Morrow across the plaza to the famous cathedral of Puebla, which is one of the most beautiful and costly buildings in the republic.

There another extraordinary distinction was shown him when the cathedral bells were rung for him. The bells have been silent most of the time since the religious laws became effective.

One of the party asked Mr. Morrow if he would like to hear the bells ring. He replied he would like to hear them ringing all the time.

McLEAN GIVES BENEFIT PICTURE FOR LIBRARY

On Monday, August 27, Mr. McLean will present at the Firemen's Hall, Woodstock, a benefit movie for the Woodstock Public Library. There will be two shows at the Firemen's Hall, 7 and 9 p. m. Seats for the first show will be on sale at the Firemen's Hall from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. on the day of the show, also at the library, previously. Mr. McLean is cooperating with the local community organizations and in this benefit picture, is offering the public a chance to assist with the library fund and enjoy a special moving picture at the same time.

PLUNGES TO HER DEATH DOWN 75-FOOT CLIFF

Binghamton, N. Y., Aug. 17 (AP).—Mrs. William Whitmarsh, 50, of Kirkwood, plunged to her death down a 75-foot cliff while picking berries and was found by a searching party late last night. The position of the body indicated death was not instantaneous.

Mrs. Whitmarsh started berrying early yesterday morning and when she did not return neighbors made an unavailing search. Later Sheriff Charles E. Watson and deputies found the body.

FOUR BROTHERS ALL IN SINGLE LAW FIRM

Bridgeport, Conn., Aug. 17 (AP).—A law firm here now has four brothers of the same family and operates under the family name. It is said to be without precedent in Connecticut.

The fourth member of the firm was admitted when David M. Reich of Bridgeport was admitted to the Connecticut state bar and thus qualified to practice law with his three brothers.

SAMUEL MAY ARRESTED HERE ON THREE CHARGES THURSDAY

Samuel May of High Falls was arrested Thursday evening on three charges: that of driving without lights; without having his license papers and of driving to the left of the traffic standard at Strand and Hasbrouck avenue. This morning in police court Judge Shufeldt suspended sentence on the first two charges and fined May $5 on the charge of driving to the left of the standard.

Unconscious From Stings

Ralph Traphagen, who resides in the Catskills, was rendered unconscious several days ago by hornet stings and had to be revived through the aid of a stomach pump. He slammed the door of the building he used for a tea room during the summer and jarred a nest of hornets, that immediately went for him and stung him severely about the face. Physicians were summoned and found him unconscious.

Secures Business Position

Miss Alida Will, of the shorthand department of Spencer's Business School, has secured a temporary position as stenographer, typist and office assistant with Weber & Walter, plumbing, 630 Broadway.

Hoover to Visit Six Cities Before Heading Eastward

Aboard Hoover Train, Aug. 17 (AP).—Herbert Hoover started for a while today in the southern part of his home state before heading eastward for the supreme battle of a career that has carried him from a poor country boy's estate to a Republican presidential nomination.

With little more than time to say hail and farewell to each, Hoover had arranged to visit six California cities between early morning and late evening, with one prepared address on the steps of the city hall in Los Angeles in response to the welcome of Mayor George E. Cryer, and the people of the city.

Santa Barbara, one of the oldest and most beautiful California cities, claimed him first.

After a reception in the southern Metropolis, the nominee was to head for Long Beach to be welcomed by thousands of former Iowans, and to inspect the Pacific Southwest Exposition.

Pasadena and San Bernardino were the last points on the California itinerary, but there were many stops beyond before the time fixed for the arrival of the candidate's special train at his birthplace at West Branch, Iowa, next Tuesday morning in time for breakfast in the modest little home where his early childhood was spent before the death of his parents sent him forth a roaming orphan who ultimately found his way to the Pacific coast after weary travel and hardships.

In Arizona tomorrow the Hoover special will detour to the Grand Canyon so that those accompanying the nominee may see that vast gift of nature to the scenic beauties of America.

Hoover will spend the afternoon in conference with Republican leaders of the state who will seek to place it in the Republican column in November.

Arriving at Santa Barbara at 8 a. m. the Republican standard bearer was to be welcomed by the mayor and other city officials, and spend two hours motoring through the business district, visiting the Santa Barbara Mission, which was founded in 1786 by Father Fermin Francisco Lausen.

Practically all of the southern California territory through which the nominee passes is dotted with these missions, established by the Franciscan Fathers who migrated from Mexico before the Revolutionary War to found the republic of California.

These ancient places hold an especial appeal to Mrs. Hoover, who is accompanying her husband, and who has made a study of the missions since her early days in California. After two hours in Santa Barbara, Hoover and his party were to move on to Glendale for a ten-minute stop, and then pass into Los Angeles, detour for a motor ride from the Southern Pacific station to the new six million dollar city hall.

After the Los Angeles reception the nominee will motor to Long Beach to greet thousands of Iowans who have arranged a special picnic in his honor and will inspect the exposition before boarding the train for the eastward journey.

There will be ten minute stops at Pasadena and San Bernardino to night as the train moves toward the Arizona border.

Leaving Palo Alto late last night after nearly a month at his home on the Stanford University campus, Hoover was given a rousing farewell by his fellow townsmen, and within less than half an hour another large crowd had greeted him at San Jose.

The nominee's last day at the place he elected for his notification of the action of the Kansas City convention was spent largely in completing the copy of his West Branch address next Tuesday evening, and writing the speech to be made today at Los Angeles. Some slight alterations in each were made on the train before the candidate retired for the night.

EVERY FEDERAL EMPLOYEE SHOULD ENFORCE LAWS

New York, Aug. 17 (AP).—Enlistment of every Federal employee as an aid to prohibition enforcement of officers in detecting violators is advocated by Joseph Daniels, secretary of the navy under President Wilson.

"If a President wants to enforce the law every man he appoints to office ought to be told: 'You must enforce the laws of this country and not wink at violations,'" he said in charging that prohibition enforcement had never had a fair trial under the Republican administration.

"Of course I would not stop a naval battle to take up the chase of a rum runner," he continued, "or put the navy as a whole into prohibition enforcement. But if a naval aviator sees the law disobeyed let him report it. Every customs officer on the border ought to be on the lookout for liquor importation. Every Federal employee should be told: 'You must do your job first but incidentally if you find wrong going on you must report it.'"

He said that Herbert Hoover's promise that if elected he would name a fact finding commission to probe the prohibition question was "a good way to dodge."

Mr. Daniels made his views known at Democratic National headquarters here, where he stopped off on his way home from Albany, where he conferred with Gov. Smith. He would not discuss his conference with the Governor.

Gangsters Shoot And Burn Woman

Chicago, Aug. 17 (AP).—Vengeance against betrayers, appeared today to have been turned for the first time in years against a woman.

Police could not be sure that the woman whose body was found in a ditch near Crown Point, Ind., early yesterday, was involved in Chicago gangster intrigue, for identification was lacking early today. Their theory was that the woman was Adeline Zaccardo, "girl friend" of Angelo Francesco, whose body was found early this week in the abandoned automobile which five men had used in the robbery of the West Merchants State Bank.

Identification was difficult because after the woman had been shot, her clothing was saturated with oil and then set afire. The single bullet in her jaw, the coroner said, probably did not cause death, and she may have been conscious when fire was touched to her oil-soaked clothing.

If it were Miss Zaccardo, the killing could be explained on the theory that she "knew too much," according to officers. It was she who telephoned Francesco's parents, urging them to look at the body of the man found in the robbery automobile, thus providing positive identification of the man as Francesco.

In any event, even should the theory that the woman was Miss Zaccardo be wrong, the crime bore every mark of the gang killer's technique. It was apparent that the woman had been taken for a ride, which is the usual method employed in getting an intended victim to a desolate spot where he may be killed. The bullet wound also indicated gangster methods. Setting fire to the clothing, however, was without precedent in modern gang killing.

SACCO-VANZETTI CASE IN ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Boston, Aug. 17 (AP).—That the Sacco-Vanzetti case probably will be injected into an already complicated election campaign was seen today in the announcement that the Socialist party of Massachusetts had nominated for governor Mrs. Mary Donovan Haggood of North Brookfield.

Mrs. Haggood, formerly an inspector of state department of labor industries, became prominently identified with the Sacco-Vanzetti agitation last year in the course of which she met and later married Powers Haggood, a Harvard graduate.

Both were arrested several times in this state and later in the Pennsylvania coal fields, where they championed the rights of miners against local authorities. Haggood announced he would take the stump for his wife in the coming campaign.

HOPES TO FLY AROUND WORLD IN FROM 12 TO 15 DAYS

San Francisco, Aug. 17 (AP).—Lieut. George R. Pond, U. S. Naval Reserve, today planned to leave for Detroit to inspect a two-motored flying boat in which he hopes to fly around the world in from 12 to 15 days.

Pond's announced itinerary included St. Johns, N. B., the Azores, Madrid, Russia, Siberia, across the Bering Sea to Alaska, Edmonton and back to Detroit, the starting point. He will carry a relief pilot and a radio operator, he said.

CAPTAIN FOX'S SILVER CUP NOW ON EXHIBITION

The silver loving cup that was presented to Captain Daniel E. Fox of Troop C of the State Troopers at the Kingston Driving Park on Thursday afternoon is now on exhibition in the show window of the Maben & Walker drug store on central Broadway. The cup was presented to Captain Fox by the race committee of the Chamber of Commerce. The presentation on behalf of the committee was made by Mayor E. J. Dempsey.

THE 100-FOOT SMOKESTACK OF CITY HALL NEARLY BUILT

The 100-foot smokestack being erected adjoining the water works barn is rapidly nearing completion and was within four feet of the required height this morning, and will probably be completed today or tomorrow. The smokestack is part of the heating system that will be used to heat not only the reconstructed city hall, but the Central Fire Station and Municipal Building on East O'Reilly street.

Oldest Resident, 115, Dies

Springfield, Mo., Aug. 17 (AP).—James McCain, 115, oldest resident of the Missouri-Arkansas Ozarks region, died yesterday at his home near Dora, Ark. An orphan at nine years, he roamed the seas as a sailor for more than 50 years before settling in the Ozarks. Although he attended school only a short time, he spoke nine languages.

Postpones Take-off

Cochrane, Ontario, Aug. 17 (AP).—Rain interfered with the plans of Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer to leave today on the second leg of their transatlantic flight in the monoplane Greater Rockford. The take-off for Mount Evans, Greenland, was postponed. Heavy rain fell during the night and conditions were unsettled this forenoon.

Ten Dead, Great Damage in South

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 17 (AP).—Four southern states counted 10 dead and great property damage in the wake of storms and floods today.

In the wake of receding waters, telegraph and telephone companies were struggling against heavy loads to restore communication lines which were broken in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

Property owners in those states contemplated thousands of acres of damaged farm land, destroyed and damaged homes and buildings, as well as unestimated bridge and highway damage which cannot be repaired for months.

While showers were forecast for the affected states today, the drenching rains and storms of the last few days apparently have subsided.

Probably the greatest menace obtained along the Broad river in South Carolina, which is the draining channel for the western edge of North Carolina as well, where a Lockhart Power Company dam had already burst near Union, S. C.

The structure, 1,000 feet long and 15 feet high, cracked at midnight, threatening as a result the Broad river valley dams to Columbia. While officials said there was no danger to residents in the valley, some 50 families were declared by an officer at Union, S. C., to have moved to safety in the territory immediately below Lockhart.

The Union Manufacturing Company's dam at Nell's Shoals and the Broad River Company's dam at Parr Shoals, near Columbia, were 12 feet open. Early today the crack in the long Lockhart structure was believed to be small with enough vent to relieve the pressure and prevent collapse. All the dams, as are the most of the Piedmont country's power dams, are concrete.

Sunday Movies Up On Tuesday

The Sunday movie question will undoubtedly come up at the adjourned meeting of the common council on Tuesday evening when it is expected some action will be taken on the minority report of the laws and rules committee favoring holding a referendum at the election this fall on the question of whether Sunday movies shall be allowed in Kingston.

At the last meeting of the common council Alderman Clare, of the Eighth ward, introduced a resolution calling for a referendum on the question which was referred to the laws and rules committee, who submitted two reports. The majority report rejected the proposition while the minority report favored it. At that time the minority report was tabled.

Glasco—Elwood Weeks, president; O. A. Bruno, vice-president; Francis Dobkins, clerk, and Martin Whitaker, collector and treasurer. New members of the board, recently elected, are John Canale and Domenico Graeco for a term of two years and Frank Briddy for a term of three years, succeeding Fred Fonda, who declined a re-election.

Many Attend Revival Services

The revival services at Emanuel Baptist Church are being largely attended. Those who have not attended the services are invited to visit the church for the beneficial sermons. The Rev. C. H. King, pastor, has procured the services of Dr. A. S. Lomax of Norfolk, Va., who is a noted preacher. Songs and prayers characterize the revival and all seem to have derived new inspiration from them as well as the sermons.

Sustains Broken Nose

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 17 (AP).—Charles Hargreaves, Pittsburgh catcher, sustained a broken nose when hit by a ball thrown by Jumbo Elliott in yesterday's game between the Pirates and Brooklyn. The backstop will be out of the game indefinitely.

With the Citizens Band Playing "The Wearing of the Green" another record was announced at the Kingston Driving Park Thursday afternoon, the closing day of the horse racing meet at the track. This time the record was not only a track record but a New York state record and possibly a world record. Ed Hedrick driving for the Max Karpiet stables of Newburgh, handsomely attired in green cap and blazer, was called to the stand and an announcement made that driving three horses from the same stable in twelve heats he had been in the money 11 times. This, so far as horsemen could recall, was a record never equaled. Mr. Hedrick comes from Franklin, Indiana, and drove Miss Wabuna Brooke in the 2:28 pace to second money Thursday, following up eight wins on the two previous days out of nine starts.

Mr. Hedrick thanked the crowd for the hand which he was given and expressed his gratification over his apparent world record. The record made by Mr. Hedrick, however, did not take the interest from the real treat of the afternoon, the race between the Four Horsemen. This race added one to the seven wonders of the world and will go down in history as one of the greatest horse racing spectacles. For a time it looked as though Dave Schenck would not be able to get Oliver Mainesheet off at all but with some coaxing and a little persuasion the horse was started. Several times it stalled before the starter finally said "go" but each time, like a good Studebaker car, Dave was able to feed the gas and get away.

Mayor Dempsey In New Role. Mayor E. J. Dempsey appeared in a new role at the race when he acted as chief judge of the affair. His Honor apparently satisfied all for the police reserves were not needed when it was announced that William R. Kraft, who finished the last heat third under the wire was given the first position. This was due to the fact that all of the other horses to finish ahead of his horse had either galloped, run or cantered most of the half mile. Mr. Kraft exhibited his horsemanship and kept his horse at the proper pace during the entire half mile.

Race of The Four Horsemen. The special sportsmanship race between A. H. Gildersleeve driving A. S. A., William R. Kraft driving Prince Albert, Dave Schenck driving Oliver Mainesheet and Elmer Palen driving Barney Edwards was undoubtedly the best race of the entire week's card. At least everyone was interested and there was more cheering and considerably more good humor about than in any other race.

In the first heat he was unable to get his horse off in the last two and finished last while Elmer Palen, who had finished last in the first heat, flashed across the finish with a burst of speed that carried him half way around the track before he could apply the brakes and come to a stop. Oliver Mainesheet, driven by Dave Schenck, apparently had found himself after the first heat when he finished third for Dave had no difficulty in getting his horse started in the last two heats and finished first in the second heat and second in the third. He finished in the same order that Mr. Kraft did, but the judges decided to give Mr. Kraft first place in the last heat although his horse was the third to cross the finish. This they agreed was proper since Prince Albert had trotted a handsome clip all the way while the other horses were performing various acrobatic and dance steps.

Harry Beck Gets Horse. Immediately after the race Elmer Palen mounded a convenient soap box and began an auction of the horses which Mr. Kraft had won. The conditions of the race were that at the end of the race the losers were to unblock their horses and present them to the winner. Two of Mr. Kraft's newly acquired horses were auctioned off, one Oliver Mainesheet, going to Harry Beck, the Broadway butcher, who did not announce what use he was going to make of his newly acquired property.

The time of the race for the half mile was 1:16.2, 1:18, 1:22. The entries in the special race and the order in which they finished was:

A. S. A. (Gildersleeve), A. H. Gildersleeve, 2 4 4
Prince Albert (Wm. Kraft), 1 2 1
Oliver Mainesheet (D. Schenck), 3 2 3
Barney Edwards (E. Palen), 4 3 3

"Lady Cop" Gets The Evidence

Manages Out With Drug Addicts and Visits Cellars, Garrets, Backrooms and Rich "Clubs"—Never Carries a Gun.

New York, Aug. 17 (AP).—She is small and stuffy and feminine, about 25 years old, with brown bobbed hair that curls in soft, childish tendrils around her face.

And she has one of the most dangerous jobs in the entire New York police department—a job so dangerous that her superiors never discuss her by name with any outsiders. Keeping her identity as carefully guarded a secret as they can, they still look worried whenever they mention her and mutter, "Well—they'll get her some day."

She is attached to the narcotics division, this innocent looking young woman in a flowered chiffon dress. She has the rank and pay of a patrolman. Her job is to "get the evidence." She gets it. Some say she is the most valuable operative in the squad.

And she is one of the principal reasons why Police Commissioner Joseph A. Warren this week ordered six more women into the police department, bringing the total up to 125. A hundred and twenty-four of them work under direction of Mrs. Mary A. Sullivan, reporting at their headquarters on the second floor of the old police headquarters building, a few blocks from Tombs prison.

But this "lady cop"—smallest and fluffiest and most feminine of them all—never appears there. Whenever she is about police headquarters, which is not very often, you'll find her down talking with the head of the narcotics division.

Here is no daytime job. To get the evidence she goes where the evidence is—to cellars, garrets, back rooms of what used to be corner saloons, restaurants, and to luxuriously furnished "clubs." Sometimes her work takes her along Fifth avenue and along Broadway. More often, though, you will find her in places where hardly another woman in New York would dream of going without an escort. She goes alone and at night.

She hangs about with drug addicts until she finds out where the stuff is being bought. Then she buys some. Her associates arrest the seller, and she appears as a witness against him in court.

In Danger on Witness Stand. In those appearances on the witness stand lies her danger. Guard her name as closely as they can, the police cannot prevent its being overheard by anyone who cares to listen when she takes the stand. Nor can they shield her from the stares of the drug seller's friends as she sits there, giving her testimony.

Three years ago, she was just an ordinary policewoman then, hunting for lost girls, rounding up straying babies at Coney Island, arresting maddens in the subway—she got her first assignment with the narcotics squad. It was just one job. She liked it.

She liked it so much and did it so well that they let her try another. She liked the next assignment even better and showed even greater skill. She asked for a permanent assignment with the narcotics division. She hasn't got it yet. Worrying all the time and begging her to go back where she belongs, they reassign her from month to month. She refuses to go back to hunting lost girls. And her superiors and associates, worried as they are, have to admit that she is valuable.

Several times there have been anonymous letters in which her life has been threatened. She turned them over to the head of the squad and calmly went about her business. Once, not long ago, she received at headquarters a telephone call—an urgent request to investigate a place "down on South street." The district known as "down on South street" is along the waterfront at the lower end of Manhattan. Policemen down there travel always in pairs.

She held onto the telephone until one of her associates had traced the call. Then, with two detectives, she raced down there. The call had come from a soft drink parlor. It was a "fake."

Never Carries a Gun.

She never carries a gun, this slim young woman with the pale, quiet face. But she has seen plenty of gunfire. Sometimes her associates are waiting outside when she makes her purchase. There follows an immediate arrest. And more than once there has been gunfire. "And she never turned a hair," is how her associates describe her conduct.

There is only one person who may eventually persuade this young "patrolman" in chiffon stockings and satin pumps with three inch heels to abandon her job of "getting the evidence." He won't ever get her to hunt for any more lost girls, but he might convince her that she ought to try making pie for a change. He is her husband.

But he hasn't convinced her yet.

WORLD'S LIGHT EXPERTS WILL MEET IN AMERICA

Washington, Aug. 17 (AP).—Experts on illumination from the leading nations of the world will spend most of next month in the United States, considering the latest practical and scientific developments in their field. Organized as an International Illumination Congress, under the auspices of the United States national committee of the International Commission on Illumination and the Illuminating Engineering Society, they will assemble about September 3 in New York from various parts of America, Austria, Belgium, France, Germany, Great Britain, Holland, Italy, Japan and Switzerland.

After a tour which will enable them to observe lighting practices in New York and vicinity, Boston, Washington, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Niagara Falls, Toronto and, if possible, other cities they will attend the annual meeting of the engineering society at Toronto, September 17-20, and sessions of the international commission at Saratoga, N. Y., September 22-25.

A number of important technical and scientific papers are to be read at the Toronto convention, which will be the society's second meeting in Canada in 22 years. At the Saratoga meeting the commission will consider such world-wide problems as automobile headlights, glare, lighting for aviation, home, school, factory, street and show-window lighting, daylight illumination and the status of lighting education.

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

If you go into an art gallery and see in the mood you can walk about and point out wonderful "stripped effects" or high lights of "modern treatment" in the work. Precisely, the same pleasures may be yours at a modern dress-goods counter, if you wish, and the beauty of it all is that here, if you are needed, or have at hand one who is, you may just carry the glorious works of art right out of the shop and presently appear yourself all "stripped" or "modernistic."

"You do sell a lot more cloth now than in former years, when less people made dresses, don't you?" asked Dame Fashion of the clothmaster. He laughed. "We sell to a great many more people but it's trouble in they don't want so many yards apiece." Then he told of the good old days for the cloth seller—when it was not uncommon at all to sell 17 or 18 yards for each gown.

One woman had loaned him for exhibit a dress skirt from her bridal outfit of 35 years ago; made in the first place of a heavy corded black silk, such as now would only be purchased for a coat material. The skirt had 14 gores and was immensely wide; it was lined and canvas-belted within, it had velvet banding on the bottom and a brush edge almost as stiff as a toothbrush supposed to catch the dust. It weighed between seven and eight pounds. Nothing but a prayer book response seems appropriate. "From all such afflictions, good Lord, deliver us!"

But forget the past and look at these light lovely silks, a good deal like that we used to call "rajah" in other days but with merry Japanese names at present. The flowered ones are so exquisite and the white is perfection for sports use. All of them go happily into the tub along with a good white soap.

One bright young mother, who lives in what army officers sometimes call "eighties not quarters," tells how she sits her year-and-a-half baby in one end of the tub, with his turtle soap-dish in his hand, as a plaything and to hold the soap, and in the other end of the tub she washes out at the same time and with a similar cake of soap the white sports dress of silk that she plans to wear, on the same afternoon to the club! Now if that is not "co-operation in service," Dame Fashion would like to know what is?

Dame Fashion is unscientific in her color-views, but as for getting a lot of fun out of little color-matches—finding a set of bargain draperies with color valences to match new wallpaper, or a bargain bag that will match shoes or hat, Dame Fashion will just declare that she doesn't believe President Coolidge can get any more fun out of catching a plump rainbow trout than she can in finding "rainbow bargains."

Vest-Blouse Chic for Suit or Sports Frock

Either for a tailored suit or as the upper part of a two-piece dress this vest-blouse is chic and practical. Made of silk or cotton pique or linen it would smartly complement a suit or if made of a washable silk material with a matching or darker skirt it would make a delightful sports frock. The accompanying yoke-top skirt has plaits that fall directly under the points of the vest-blouse—Woman's Home Companion.

Tunics in Many Styles for Summer Wardrobe

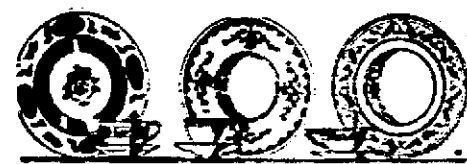

Tunics of dress length are now of favor in sleeveless models of crepe de chine and georgette, in a range of colors from white to navy. These are especially well-made and may well be included in the summer or vacation wardrobe.

However, the long sleeve is not absent in the tunic, and very attractive one and two-piece models are offered in both plain fabrics and prints, with straight hem or circular harem.

Colored Band at Smarteries. The Jenkins Colored Orphans' Home Band of Charleston, S. C., which tours this section of the country every year, was in Sargent's on Wednesday. Their concert was enjoyed and the "little man" with the button proved the center of attraction to be his in years past.

RARE JAPANESE ART SHOWN AT WOODSTOCK

There has opened at the Woodstock Library, as the second of a series of showings in the graphic arts, an exhibition of unusual interest in a collection of old Japanese stencil patterns owned by Lucy Fletcher Brown of New York.

The examples shown are a century old but still in fine condition, giving us proof of the well-nigh incredible skill of the craftsman of Old Japan. The cutting of the patterns is executed by hand and implies a technique of mingled strength and delicacy that is difficult for us to comprehend. The art is lost, the craftsman, whose names are forgotten, are gone before the money-making methods that we have taught them to substitute, but fortunately here and there remnants of treasures are preserved and bring us knowledge of the marvelous decorative genius of the Far East. The flat patterns in black and white have a richness and suggest an intricate color-scheme and the use of the poetic Oriental motives touch the imagination with the magic of the East. Twisting tendrils of the wisteria delicately patterned blossoms of the cherry and plum; bold whorls of great chrysanthemum worthy of the metal-workers craft; dancing iris leaves and here diminutive umbrellas tossing amidst the cherry blossoms.

The stencil patterns are valuable for decorative purposes as well as for study and inspiration to the artist; the exhibition should be of great value and interest to the summer colony. Visitors to the colony will find the library rooms open daily from 2:30 to 5:30 p. m., except Sunday and Monday.

Sole Survivor Tells of Tragedy

North Bay, Ont., Aug. 17 (AP).—For a parish priest, blinded by fire, his clothes ablaze, stood on his burning launch in Lake Lavinia and, in the end, granted absolution to five others of his faith before they played into the water has been told by the sole survivor of the tragedy.

The priest, Father J. B. Dubuc, although a powerful swimmer, drowned attempting to save the lives of others of his party.

The dramatic story of the tragedy was related by Albert Lafreniere, who, with his wife and two children, Father Dubuc and Miss Leonie Sylvestre set out Wednesday night for a cruise around the lake, after a picnic at which they had been the priest's guests.

They had proceeded a mile up the lake when a backfire from the engine ignited gasoline in the bottom of the launch. The gasoline tank exploded, enveloping the boat in flames.

Calming his guests as the flames crackled around them, Father Dubuc calmly recited the ritual of his church and then said: "There is nothing else to do. We must jump into the water."

Lafreniere, clasp his oldest son, Claude, 3, in his arms made for a small island which the glare from the flames showed three hundred yards distant. Father Dubuc went to the aid of the two women. Mrs. Lafreniere, had her month-old son clasped in her arms.

When almost to the island, Lafreniere lost his hold on his son, and was barely able to swim to shore alone. All the others were drowned.

Residents of Lavinia, about a mile from the scene of the accident, saw the flaming boat and went to the rescue, but were too late.

The bodies of all except Miss Sylvestre were found. Miss Sylvestre, Mrs. Lafreniere and Miss Sylvestre were sisters, the latter acting as housekeeper for their brother, the Right Rev. Monsignor Lecuyer of Sturgeon Falls.

WORK HARD TO PREVENT INSANITY, SAYS EXPERT

New Orleans, La., Aug. 17 (AP).—Isolation and boredom are responsible for more mental diseases than the high tension and speed of modern living, says Dr. Julian Moreira, internationally known psychiatrist. Dr. Moreira, who recently visited New Orleans on his way to Japan and Germany, recommends hard work as a factor in mental health.

Speaking of boredom as inducing insanity, the specialist recalls the story of the North Dakota farmer whose wife became insane. The farmer told a doctor questioning him as to her manner of living that he could not understand her insanity, since she "has had no excitement. Why, for the past 10 years she hasn't been out of her back yard or her kitchen."

"It is that monotony and isolation, such as this story illustrates, that in my opinion has been the cause of far more mental diseases than the fastest speed at which modern life can move," says Dr. Moreira.

Resolutions.

We, the officials of Saint James Church, wish to place on record our great loss in the sudden removal of our late pastor, brother and friend, the Rev. J. Wilbur Teiler, who for the last five years has so efficiently ministered to us.

We highly appreciated him as a scholar, a Christian gentleman, pastor and preacher. In our times of sorrow and bereavement he was ever the kind and sympathetic helper so much needed, and although heavily burdened himself, never hesitated to try for help and sympathy, and his sudden and almost tragical removal is deeply regretted by all.

We tenderly remember to his family, who are so sorely bereaved, our sincere sympathy and pray that God's richest comfort may be theirs in this hour of their sore need.

SKELETONIZER AT WORK ON APPLES.

The brown and blighted appearance of apple foliage so noticeable along the highways just now is due to the feeding of the apple skeletonizer, says P. J. Parrott, entomologist at the Experiment Station at Geneva.

Injury from this insect is evidence of neglect of the orchard or poor spraying, says this authority.

"There have been numerous inquiries during the past month as to the cause of the burning and the blighted appearance of the leaves of many apple orchards," says a statement issued by the station authorities. "The insect responsible for this injury is new to most of New York, although it is well known in Europe and was first discovered in this country in the lower Hudson river valley in 1917."

"Since then, the skeletonizer has spread up the valley to Albany, eastward into Connecticut and Massachusetts, and westward in New York. It has been present in the western part of the state for three years, but this is the first season that injury has been extensive enough to attract attention."

"The apple is the preferred food plant of the skeletonizer, and upon close examination it will be found that the caterpillars feed almost altogether upon the upper surface of the leaves eating out the green tissues almost completely. When the caterpillars are full grown they are about half an inch long, yellowish green in color, and are marked with tiny black spots."

"Three generations generally develop between June and October, the late summer brood causing the most damage. If the injury is severe, the fruit is often poorly colored and undersized, and in cases of complete defoliation the next year's crop may be lost."

"The skeletonizer is readily killed by applications of arsenate of lead and trees receiving the regular apple spray schedule throughout the season normally suffer very little, if any, injury from this pest."

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, Aug. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crawford were on a business trip to Liberty on Friday and Saturday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Warner and children of Paterson, N. J., are spending a few days at the parsonage with the Rev. and Mrs. C. Van Tol.

The ladies' fair of the Reformed Church is now in progress and will continue until 6 p. m., standard time, Saturday. All sorts of fancy articles, candy, baked goods, etc., are on sale. Patronage is solicited. The sale is being held in the basement of Frank Davis' store on Cooper street.

The choir of the Reformed Church will meet at the church on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock for practice. Miss Anna Service will be the leader on Sunday evening at the C. E. meeting. The topic will be, "How Magazines and Newspapers Help or Hinder Christian Living." All are invited to meet to discuss such a timely topic. The meeting will be held at 7 o'clock.

Community services will be held at the M. E. Church on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. The Rev. J. H. Smith will have charge of the song and devotional service. The Rev. C. Van Tol will bring the message, choosing as his theme, "Little Sins." All are cordially welcome.

At the morning service at the Reformed Church the Rev. C. Van Tol will preach on the subject, "Building Godward." All are invited to meet in an hour of devotional and inspirational service. The Sunday school will meet at 11:45 o'clock under the direction of L. D. Sahler.

The recent fair weather has enabled the contractors to make rapid progress on the new state road.

The Builders' Class of the Methodist Sunday school is to meet at the home of Mrs. Edward Muller, Jr., Thursday, August 23, at 2 p. m., standard time.

"The Christ of the Common People" is the theme of the message next Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in the Methodist Church. A special message in song will be brought by Mrs. Edward Muller, Jr. and Miss Frances Muller. Many friends in this community mourn the passing of the Rev. Dr. J. Wilbur Tetley of Kingston, whose father was a former pastor of the Methodist Church here.

Plans are being made for a great spiritual movement in the form of a Gospel campaign to be held September 2-15 under the leadership of an unusually talented woman evangelist, Miss Edna Manning, of Cleveland. The meetings will be held in the Methodist Church at Stone Ridge, but the Atwood Community Church is behind the movement, and all people of this and other nearby communities are invited to share in the enterprise.

SIGHTS WE HOPE TO SEE

By John Cassel

THE BRIDE WHO IS A BETTER COOK THAN HER MOTHER-IN-LAW.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW YORK

"Good Morning, Doctor"

WE'll venture to guess that you and your colleagues waste less money on bootleg gasoline and oil than any other class of citizens. That's one bargain no doctor can afford.

After all, your car comes pretty close to being the most important equipment a medical man has to have. Sick patients want the doctor quick—a crippled machine is no excuse. Also, you know something about diet. You don't expect human beings to thrive on second-grade food—same way with an automobile.

You deal with reputable drug houses as a matter of course, and you safeguard your transportation by insisting on good oil and gas. It's easy to pull up at the pump that has a reputation behind it—easy, and a lot safer.

Many states now require motorists to pass eyesight tests before granting driving licenses. Anybody with half an eye can see that the Socony pump gets most of the traffic—and keeps it moving.

TOURING THIS SUMMER? Let Socony Touring Service help you plan your trip and advise you of road conditions. The service is free. Just fill in the coupon and send it to Socony Touring Service, Room 58, 26 Broadway, New York City.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Chicago—The installment business has extended to tooth. Dental technicians hear of sets up to $5,000—applied to, broken, "a" everything—to be bought on time payments. But if the purchaser falls behind, a collector will appear and jerk back the goods.

New York—More than 10,000 persons hereabouts availed themselves in one day of the Telephone Company's new time service. The peak of inquiries for the correct time came between 5 and 6 p. m.

Newark, N. J.—In testing a new system of color-films, the subjects selected to depict striking scenes were: An Everglades scene, an overripe banana, a luscious peach and the national flag. And the last, spectators held, gave the most thorough test.

Athens—Undiscouraged by the failure to prevent repeating by inkling a voter's fingers at the polls, electoral reformers proposed that each voter have his forearm shaved as he leaves the ballot box. The alternative plan was rejected as humiliating.

New York—Mary Garden has had her heart lifted, Paris reports. Her engagement to Pierre Plessis, a French newspaper publisher, and one of the republic's wealthiest citizens, is widely rumored.

Gatun, Panama—It must have been that "thrill that comes once in a life time" for Richard Halliburton, American author, when 4,000 tons of canal locks were operated solely for his passage. Halliburton was swimming through the canal when he filled the role of a ship.

New York—The popular notion of a life guard—a bronzed muscular amphibian—received a rude shock here when, after an inquiry, it was announced that fifteen guards at city beaches could not swim a stroke.

Pittsfield, Mass.—Pants aren't vegetation, ruled the county commissioners in disallowing the claim for damages of a policeman whose ration had been wrecked in capturing a deer. Reimbursement was sought under the law providing repayment of "deer damages."

Towanda, Pa.—A new sort of reunion: 200 former residents of Barclay, now deserted but once a flourishing lumber town, returned for a day to renew old acquaintances.

COLLEGE TELLS HOW TO MAKE FLY TRAPS.

During August, house flies in New York state and similar climates become more numerous and if the household is to be protected from them, systematic and effective control must be used, says the New York State College of Home Economics. Absolute cleanliness in the house as well as tightly covered food and garbage containers is important. No soiled papers and cloths should be left around the house.

The best method of dealing with flies is to prevent their development by proper treatment of their breeding places. Once they are started they still may be controlled by carefully screened windows and doors, by systematic use of the fly swatter, by sticky fly paper, and by fly traps. Because many commercial fly poisons contain arsenic their use in the household is attended with danger, especially to children.

Most fly traps are constructed on the same principle. Flies are attracted by some form of bait through a passage with a large entrance and a small exit through which they cannot find their way out. A cone-shaped entrance is often used. The effectiveness of traps will depend on the selection of baits. For house flies a mixture of one part of cheap cane molasses and three parts of water is particularly attractive to flies, especially after it has fermented a day or two. Putting crushed overripe bananas in the bait pans or a mixture of brown sugar and moist curd of sour milk is also recommended.

Another type of homemade trap often used consists of a cup or can filled with hot soapy water, on the end of a stick. This is held under the flies collected on the ceiling.

Because flies have a tendency to go toward the light, successful traps are set in bright places. A good way to clear a room of flies is to close it up and darken it, letting light enter from only one window. Set the fly trap in the light near the window, and the flies will go toward the light and be caught in the trap.

LEIBHARDT.

Leibhardt, Aug. 16.—Dr. J. J. Henry, district superintendent, will preach and hold the first quarterly conference in the M. E. Church next Thursday evening, August 23, at 7 o'clock, standard time. All are invited to attend to hear Dr. Henry.

A social will be held on the school-house lawn Friday evening, August 17. Homemade ice cream and cake will be for sale by the ladies of the M. E. Church.

The Misses Mabel and Betty Baker of Chicago are enjoying their summer vacation at the home of their father, Jacob H. Baker, of Accord.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. Herman Quick last Friday afternoon. The meeting was well attended and plans were made for their coming fair and supper. Fine refreshments were served by Mrs. Quick.

Those who were pleasantly entertained as guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Olsen Chrissy at Rochester Center on Sunday, August 5, were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hassel Wood of Cornwall, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Baker of Accord and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Chrissy of Accord. A very pleasant visit was enjoyed by all.

Harry F. Brown and Nile Hornbeck have employment at Hawthorne, Orange county.

Mrs. Gilbert Quick and little daughter were callers at the home of Mrs. Julia Hornbeck Tuesday.

Miss Grace Hornbeck has returned home after spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. Louis Hoff, at Napanoch during the boarding season.

Mrs. Amelia Markle spent Tuesday night with Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Baker of Accord and accompanied them to the Mill Hook picnic on Wednesday.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Leibhardt M. E. Church will hold its annual fair and supper on the school house lawn on Saturday afternoon and evening, September 1. A number of fancy and useful articles will be on sale, also two nice quilts. A good supper will be served from 5 o'clock until all are served.

Clayton Quick returned to Lake Mohawk on Sunday after spending a few days' vacation at home.

Kenneth Smith, who has a position in New Jersey, spent Sunday at her former home. Mr. Smith reports he has had a good season and expects to return home Labor Day for the reopening of the High school at Kerhonkson where he is a student.

Spencer Quick of Catskill is enjoying a week's vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Quick.

Mrs. William Cooney and little son, Billy Cornwall, have returned home after spending a few days with their cousin, Betty Baker.

Norman Davis, who recently returned to New York after a three years' stay at New Zealand, came up on Tuesday to see his sister-in-law, Mrs. A. R. Hall Davis, and little nephew, Richard Davis, before returning to his home in London, England.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Markle and Mrs. Melinda Gorsline were callers at the home of Mrs. Alex. Brown on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Enos Avery and Mr. and Mrs. Moses Avery of West Hurley enjoyed a nice auto ride and called on relatives and friends in this place on Sunday afternoon, August 5. All were pleased to see them as Mr. and Mrs. Moses Avery were former residents of this place.

Harry F. Brown and Miss Beatrice Gray enjoyed an auto trip to Lexington, Greene county, Sunday afternoon.

A Gas Storage Water Heater "Peps-Up" the Day

The day starts right when there is no waiting for hot water for shaving or for a warm tub or shower. The effect is lasting for even after a hard day at the office you come home invigorated and peppy.

An automatic gas storage water heater means that hot water is ready to serve you first thing in the morning, last thing at night, and all through the day for every need. The hot water is always on tap and a new gas rate now effective provides a special low charge for homes equipped with gas storage water heaters. We'll be glad to tell you more about these heaters.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Logwood. One of the Many New Tones Applied to the Ultra Smart Brown Group—Scallops Occur at All Times And for All Purposes.

New York—Among the several new names in which brown appears for immediate and future wear is logwood. Brown, it may be repeated, offers itself for all purposes and at all hours. It, among other so-called street shades, is counted upon to pull many votes.

One of the most characteristic features of the current season, as well as one that seems likely to carry over to the next, is the interchangeable usage of both colors and materials. One is almost prepared to hear of wooden ball gowns, since velvet is used for elegant as well as inelegant occasions. Scallops, once more or less concealed by outer finery, and presented otherwise in the juvenile class, have suddenly appeared as factors for all sorts of trimming purposes, not excepting coats, even for ones.

For Early Fall the Daytime Frock in Light Woolen Is Given Distinction by Its Suit-Like Tailoring. This Model in Beige Wool Crepe Has Many Details of Interest, Including the Carved Finish of the Jacket Blouse, the Surplice Gilet with the Monogram Belt, and the Skirt Pleated at Sides. The Buttons and Monogram Are Accented in Darker Shade.

The tunic edge is sometimes scalloped with the result that one is never confident of the costume being either a dress or a suit, or never quite sure whether it be in one or two sections. Designers seem fond of creating this confusion of mind concerning street costumes. Many types presented for early autumn have this feature strongly accented.

Jackets continue to add movement and a charming touch to many costumes. They are more often scalloped than straight edged.

Not only have gloves, scalloped edges, but handkerchiefs also have them, and all manner of tricky things are done with hats, several of which carry out the scalloped theme.

Crowns are shallow, by the way.

Smart Dinner Gown of Eggshell Rayon Satin

How effective a simple design can be—such as this unusually attractive dinner gown of eggshell rayon satin. The uneven hem makes the model quite a favorite.

Fascinating Negligees

Will Appeal to Women

Nowhere is lovely femininity more emphasized and more alluring than in the boudoir. This is especially noticed in the lounging suits that reflect the modern spirit. The ruffles, lace, marabou and other old-fashioned means of bringing a decorative appearance to intimate robes have been abolished and today finds the line as important in the negligee as it is in the street frock. Fabric, too, is important and the most exquisite silks and metallic weaves are worn in the privacy of the boudoir.

The teagown brings out all the most formal in design and in material. Black, always attractive in negligees, is much used in velvets which combine with gold and silver to fashion an utterly feminine and charming type of tea gown. The lines are, of course, long and slenderizing with a train often used to emphasize the note of formality. The delicate pastel tints in transparent velvets and satins are lovely. Garlands of flowers in contrasting pastel tints make effective trimmings while lace and gauze, metallic cloths and lace also prove effective. Lines of stateliness and of regal inspiration are the dominating features of this type of negligee.

On the other hand the informality of the boudoir is stressed in the lounging suits or pajamas that are gaining so emphatically in appeal. The exotic note in many cases is sounded in this type of negligees and all sorts of foreign countries are called upon for inspiration. Dominant, of course, is China in its jackets of all lengths gorgeously showing the most exquisite of embroidery. Colorful in the extreme are the jackets which so often show combinations such as Chinese yellow, jade green, flame and black. The trousers may be of almost any shade to form a striking contrast.

Turkey, too, is called upon to offer a fitting type for the boudoir and the laces which give such rich shades in opulent effects are much used.

Simple silks and printed patterns in silk are much used, too, but they are less gorgeous than the brocaded metallic cloths and velvets.

The peasant type is much used, too, in color combinations and embroidery designs for the lounging suit and jacket.

Smartness in Coats for

Milady's Summer Wear

In the further interests of the ensemble idea, fashion has created coats of every description and genre, for every occasion, and of varying lengths from hip to hem. The coat of paramount importance in the summer wardrobe of the modishly-gowned woman.

Among the newest evening wraps is a distinctive coat of moire for wear over the printed dress of chiffon.

In the matter of color, the predominating shade of the print determines the color selected for the coat. Flaring lines, and a collarless neckline relieved by a flower of the dress print, are indicative of the simplicity of the moire coat.

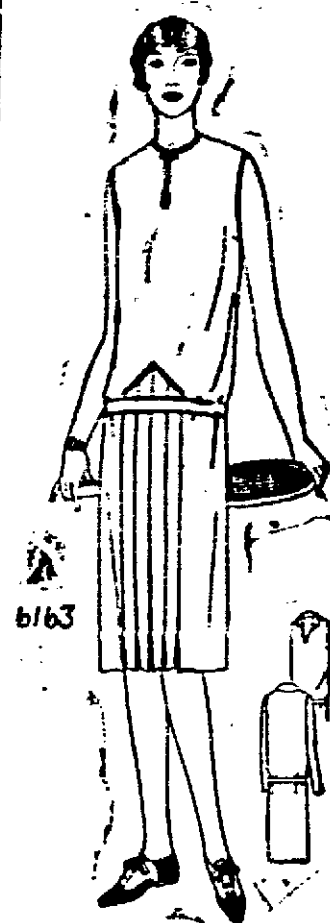

A black-ground chiffon abloom with huge printed pink roses, chosen for a fluttering dance frock, has a moire wrap of the new shorter length, not of black, but of a lustrous shade of pink, and it has no other embellishment than a pert little bow across the back of the collar.

An evening ensemble comprised of green printed chiffon and a bright green moire coat is faithful to the cape, with much fullness evident in both cape and skirt portion of the coat.

Hercules Drops Game to Apollos

The Apollos went into a tie for second place in the Industrial League Thursday when they defeated the Hercules, 7-5, at the Athletic Field after scoring four runs in the fifth inning to break a 2-2 tie. Van Etten's long home run to right field had tied the score for the Hercules in the fifth inning.

Besides pitching the Apollos to victory Jimmy Merritt helped himself to three hits, two of which were good for extra bases. Freddy Becker did the twirling for the Hercules. He allowed 10 hits handed out four free passes to first base.

After the Hercules were retired in the first inning the Apollos scored two runs in their half. Merritt and Glaser were given walks and Van Buren sent them home with a long hit to left field.

Two singles by Hercules and Bush and errors by Glaser and Jordan gave the Hercules a run in the third. After Van Etten hit his home run in the fifth to tie the score the Apollos tallied four in their half.

Hits by Merritt, Glaser and Short, walks to Crispell and Van Buren, and A. Maurer's error gave them three runs in this inning.

The Hercules threatened to tie the score in the sixth and came within one run of doing so. Petersen and I. Maurer doubled and Scully and Becker singled, which netted three runs. Merritt's triple and Glaser's sacrifice added another run to the Apollos' total in their half.

The Hercules advanced a man as far as second in the last inning, but could not produce the necessary walk-off to score him.

SPARTANS OUT AFTER GAMES WITH LOCALS

Dave Hawk's Spartans, who trimmed the Blue Sox, 6-5, Wednesday evening, are seeking a match for Sunday. Any club in this vicinity that would like to book a game with the Spartans to be played at the Fair Grounds on that day may communicate with the manager, William Longden, whose phone call is 1213. Bids must be made after 7:30 in the evening.

The Spartans, besides looking for a Sunday match, are anxious to stage a three-games series with some local club. They would like to hear from the Pan-Ams, All-Stars, Rondout A. C., or any other club in the vicinity.

Gasco's Trounced By Rondouts

Joe Quinn, who slammed the horseshoe out of Block Park, made the circuit on the wallop to score the lone tally for the Gasco Thursday evening when they dropped a contest to the Rondout A. C., 11-1.

The blow, registered in the sixth and last inning, was the second made by the Gasco, who could do nothing with the slants tossed over by Phil "Waco" Peters. Joe Quinn was the first opponent to get a hit from the Rondout hurler.

The Rondouts started by collecting eight runs in the first inning, after which they failed to score until the fifth. In the last period of the opening stanza Feeney walked, Davitt and Krom singled, Leonard reached first sack on an error and Feeney scored. Davitt and Krom crossed the rubber when Peters singled. Leonard and Peters were each advanced a base when Stumpf hit a one-bagger, that loaded the sacks. Leonard and Peters came home on Spiegel's single. Finley's double scored Stumpf. The Rondouts then had six runs. Dulin hit to Sickler, who caught Spiegel at the plate. Feeney then went to bat for the second time in the inning and scored Finley with a single. The Rondouts got their eighth run when Dulin trotted across the rubber on Davitt's single.

Scoring then ceased until the fifth inning, when the Rondouts increased their number of runs from eight to eleven. Feeney and Davitt, who singled, scored on Krom's homer.

The Rondouts are now set for a game with the J. O. U. A. M. team at Block Park Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Coughlin and Doyle will be the hurlers to do mound duty for the Seventh ward team. Dulin will catch. Diets and Rider will form the battery of the opposing team.

Hopeless

It was during the dollar day rush that little Perry was separated from his mother and before long his sob made him the center of an interested crowd.

A number of the women tried to console him, and told him that his mother was close by, but the little fellow would not believe it. Finally he blubbered: "I look an' I look an' I cry an' I listen, an' not one of you has my mudder's face."

Cy Young Does All His Own Work on His Farm

Cy Young, former world super pitcher and Iron man of the big leagues, is now a quiet Ohio farmer.

His real name is Denton T. Young. He lives on a 160-acre farm at Peoli, in Tuscawawas county. Cy and Gov. Vic Donahey were raised together. Although past the sixty-year mark, the former pitcher is as straight as a tree and there are only a few wrinkles in his face, around his eyes. Laughter and smiles caused these little crow's feet, friends say.

"Just finished making 200 fence posts," said Cy. "I keep pretty busy on the farm and don't hire any help. Do all the work myself. Keeps a man in good shape."

The modern baseball hurlers aren't up to the standard of the old school, according to the veteran. They pitch good games, but don't seem to stand the gaff.

Seems funny to see Bob O'Farrell and Gabby Hartnett down among the 200 hitters in the National League. And Harry Heilmann isn't what he used to be among the American league hitters.

A story is going around in minor league circuits that now and then a lively brand of ball used in certain leagues of the South and West bobs up in leagues that use a ball not so full of kick.

Crowd Enjoyed Woodcliff Bouts

Murray Fuchs Won From Joe Curry in Feature Attraction—Carpino Sevens Tilt a Draw—More Bouts August 30.

Murray Fuchs, 126-pound Brooklyn brawler, rounded out a victory over the feisty Joe Curry of New York city, in the feature 10-round bout at Woodcliff Park, Poughkeepsie, Thursday night. The many fans, who crowded the stadium, witnessed a sensational scrap between Johnny Carpio of Kingston and Stanley Stevens of Newburgh, that the judges termed a "draw".

The main event, although considerably slow, was interspersed with rushes produced by Joe Curry. The New York brawler came through with fusillades of punches, but lacked the dynamite to send Fuchs to the canvas. On the other hand the Brooklyn pugilist produced all the chances for the close-quarter battling in which Curry showed up well, and this factor coupled with the way Fuchs guarded himself, apparently won the attention of the judges, who gave him the contest. Curry, who is considered on a fair road to reach fame in the featherweight class, did his best fighting in the second and third rounds.

The semi-final of eight rounds between Joe Mulligan of Chelsea, the winner, and Frisco Bautista, Filipino scrapper, was not as sensational as the previous meeting between the two boys. Mulligan proved the superior from the third round until the end of the fight. The second stanza was Bautista's but he slowed up very markedly after that period, when he severely injured his left hand. He took seven counts in the seventh round from a series of blows to the head.

Johnny Carpio staged a gallant comeback in the last two rounds of his six stanza tilt with Stanley Stevens, who was superior in the third and fourth. In the latter he went off his feet twice, but the experience evidently did not weaken the Kingstonian's stamina. Carpio lost the better of the milling in the fifth and sixth when he found Stevens' jaw with ease. The first two rounds were even which made the contest a draw.

Billy La Duke, 158, of Stamford, Conn., who dubbed for Jack "Red" Mosher scored a win over Al Perone, 160, of Beacon, in a six rounder. This bout contained plenty of action in which La Duke, who has had about 10 fights, proved that he will be capable of mixing it with some of the stellar performers.

The curtain raiser of four rounds went to Kid Buck of Poughkeepsie, who beat Tommy McNaughton of Newburgh.

Thursday, August 30, is the date for the next card of bouts to be staged at Woodcliff Park.

Rash-Gonzales Bout at Armory

Captain E. C. Lawson of the 156th Field Artillery, who has charge of arranging matters for the bouts to be held at the armory on Friday evening, August 24, feels that in matching Kid Rash with Chico Gonzales he will be able to give fans a thrilling battle.

Rash is considered one of the gamiest little men who ever stepped into a Kingston ring. His popularity as a fighter is well deserved for he never quits. This spirit has marked the hundreds of battles he fought in his day, including the big scrap over there during the World War in which he was wounded by shrapnel. He still bears the mark of the wartime intended kayo, but it has not halted him from looking for a chance to display his fighting ability.

Roy Van Buren was twice stopped by Rash, and the local boy is considered a scrapper of no mean ability by a large following. However, Rash will not score so decisively over Chico Gonzales, Cuban flash, when the two mix it on August 24, according to men who know both fighters. Gonzales is a two-fisted mittman of the variety that can take as well as hand out punishment.

Tickets for the bouts are now on sale at the armory.

22.—Hanna and the Gold Plank of '96

WHATEVER the personal qualities of William McKinley, there can be no gainsaying that he owed his elevation to the highest national office largely to the manipulations of a skillful political impresario, Marcus A. Hanna.

Hardly could a greater contrast be imagined than between the Ohio major, who had come into prominence in congress as an authority on the tariff, and "Uncle Mark," the blunt political boss who worshiped success and who played the game of politics to win, just as he played the game of business, hardly as much for the sake of the stakes involved as for the zest of winning.

Hanna's exploit in 1896, when the monetary issue was uppermost, was in running a man with a silver record on a gold platform and making many of the Republican leaders believe that the gold plank was a great concession by Hanna and McKinley to them.

McKinley in congress had voted more than once with the western silver faction on the money question. But Hanna perceived that a stand for a gold standard was the only one the Republican party could afford to take. He kept his real views under cover, although he had in his pocket the gold plank he wanted adopted when he went to the Republican convention at St. Louis.

McKinley was popular because of his high tariff stand, but the eastern leaders thought him unsafe on the money issue. Boss Platt, heading the New York delegation, threatened to bolt the convention if it did not declare for a gold standard.

At the other extreme Senator Henry Teller, chairman of the delegation from the silver-mining state of Colorado, made it plain that his followers would secede if the convention did not declare for silver. Delegates from some other states were equally emphatic.

In these circumstances the convention resolutions committee found itself unable to frame a money plank. Hanna let the committee members argue the question for two whole days, while the real business of the convention was at a standstill.

Finally the gold men, resolving to take the bull by the horns, went to Hanna's hotel room and tried to browbeat him into accepting a gold plank, threatening that unless he yielded, they would carry their fight to the floor and defeat his candidate, McKinley. They gave Hanna just one hour to yield to their ultimatum.

It must have made the wily leader smile up his sleeve. They had played directly into his hands.

In less than the prescribed hour, Hanna announced himself a gold man. The plank which he had wanted all the time was incorporated in the platform, and he was in position to demand additional convention support by the gold faction for McKinley. Seldom has a smoother convention deal been put through with such success.

A number of men have claimed credit for the gold plank. Herman Kohlsaat, Chicago newspaper editor; Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, Senator Platt of New York and others have maintained they were the ones who had the word "gold" inserted in the plank.

As a result of Hanna's shrewd manipulation, the convention had its way, with an overwhelming adoption of the gold standard. Then it proceeded on the first ballot, to do what the Ohio boss most wanted to do, nominate McKinley.

The gold stand of the party was not taken without the dramatic withdrawal from the convention of Senator Teller and the Western silver Republicans, but their defection was not serious.

It was a whim of McKinley's that he bore a resemblance to Napoleon. As he won the nomination, a delegate raised on top of a staff a cocked hat such as is seen in pictures of the French emperor, whereat there was vociferous cheering.

Democrats did not fail, at this, to note that the nomination was made on June 18, the anniversary of Napoleon's crushing defeat at Waterloo, and they professed to see ill-omen in the coincidence. But their own candidate, Mr. Bryan, was destined to be the vanquished leader in the Waterloo of 1896.

Weeping Trees

When the Tagati tree of Bulawayo weeps, it is said to indicate the approaching end of a prolonged drought. David Livingstone, the explorer, decided that the water was drawn from the air by insects of the frog-hopper or "cuckoo-spit" type which congregated on the bark of the tree. He stripped the bark from one of these trees and could find no reason for supposing that the water came from the bark. The trees weep for about nine days before the rain comes.

Matters Before The Surrogate

Ernest and Arnold Smith are the legatees of the estate of their mother, Nancy B. Markle, formerly Nancy Smith of Kingston, whose will has been admitted to probate in Surrogate's court. ## HEAVY RAIN INCREASED LAWN PARTY PROCEEDS.

The committee insured against rain with the Potter Agency of that village for the sum of $70 and as more than one-tenth

Easy to Remember

In one of the large downtown stores a clerk was telling a customer from where he had come. "Bridget," he said with a delightful accent, "I come from Cork, but to be more specific I come from Farrandahadoremore, which is a little smaller than Farrandahadoremore, which is a little smaller than Farrandahadoremore, which is larger than Farrandahadoremore." In Ireland there are a great many places with names a good deal longer than they are.—De-

HOW TO GO BROKE FARMING

1. Grow only one crop.
2. Keep no livestock.
3. Regard chickens and a garden as nuisances.
4. Take everything from the soil and return nothing.
5. Don't stop gullies or grow cover crops—let the top soil wash away, then you will have "bottom" land.
6. Don't plan your farm operations. It's hard work thinking—trust to luck.
7. Regard your woodland as you would a coal mine, cut every tree, sell the timber and wear the cleared land out cultivating it in corn.
8. Hold fast to the idea that the methods of farming employed by your grandfather are good enough for you.
9. Be independent—don't join with your neighbors in any form of co-operation.
10. Mortgage your farm for every dollar it will stand to buy things you would have the cash to buy if you followed a good system of farming.—Division of Extension, University of Tennessee.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 17 (P).—The situation of the upward price movement in today's stock market lifted nearly a score of issues to new high records, but the recovery was checked by an advance in call money rates.

Early gains of 1 to 3 points were substantially reduced, many of them being cut in half, in the mid-day selling movement. Trading, which had been extremely active in the rally, turned dull on the decline.

Call money renewed at 5 per cent, advanced to 5½, and thence to 6 as banks called $40,000,000 in loans. Time money and commercial paper rates held fairly steady. Fears of an increase in the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank rate proved to be unfounded as the charge was continued at 5 per cent for another week.

While the sharp decreases in brokers' loans and discounts had a bullish effect on speculative sentiment, official intimations that the low call money rates yesterday were "artificial" stimulated liquidation on the part of cautious traders. Pools were again active in the steel, motor, chemical, food, can, merchandising and public utility shares, but they appeared to be having difficulty in attracting a large outside following.

New peak prices for the year, or higher, were registered by American Can, Kroger Stores, R. H. Macy, Grand Union, Tidewater Oil, Grand Union, preferred, Sears, Roebuck, Loft Candy and Texas & Pacific. International Harvester ran up 9 points but dropped back nearly 5 on profit-taking. Graham Paige likewise failed to hold its early gain of 6 points and General Motors slipped back 2 from the morning high.

Timothy Acreage Much Too Large

Some of Old Meadows Best Abandoned Because of Lack of Demand.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Declaring the hay acreage of the United States is overexpanded at the present time, Edward C. Parker, hay marketing specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture, told the twelfth annual convention of the Farm Seed Association of North America, at Chicago, recently, that timothy and timothy-mixed hay acreage may be expected to decrease during the next decade.

The least needed and least productive meadows in our overexpanded acreage, he said, are the old timothy meadows in the East North Central and North Atlantic states, and the prairie meadows in the North Central and South Central states. Some of these old timothy meadows, he predicted, will be abandoned or converted into permanent pastures because the demand for timothy in the cities and southern markets is insufficient to absorb all the surplus hay possible of production on these lands.

No Logical Facts for Forecast

"Looking further," Mr. Parker declared, "to that time when the present downward trend of live stock population ceases and an upward trend begins, we have no logical facts on which to base a forecast that timothy acreage will increase and return to its former extent. The hay habits and requirements of the country have changed materially in the past twenty years and when the need for a greater hay acreage does arise we may expect that the increase will be largely of alfalfa, clover, soy beans and other annual legumes."

It should be remembered, however, the speaker pointed out, that there are extensive areas in that part of the United States between the Atlantic seaboard and the Missouri river and north of latitude 36 degrees that are naturally adapted to the growth of timothy and in which the soil areas suitable for alfalfa, clover and other legumes are limited, so that the present timothy acreage will not be supplanted wholly by other hay crops. A material substitution of timothy-and-clover-mixed acreage for pure timothy acreage is highly probable in the years to come, and a substitution of alfalfa acreage for timothy acreage may be anticipated in this area.

New Use for Timothy

"In all areas where soil or climate, or both, are unfavorable to legume hay crops, but are favorable for timothy," Mr. Parker concluded, "timothy will persist as an important forage for farm horses, and in a somewhat restricted degree, as compared with former times, for cattle. A new use for timothy as a soil binder and green manure crop may develop also in the Southern states that will augment the demand for timothy seed."

Mr. Parker furnished statistics showing that although timothy hay acreage has decreased in the last few years, the decrease has not been equal to the decreased demand for timothy. Motorization of industries in cities has reduced the demand, and increased production of annual legumes and Johnson grass in the South has curtailed the demand for northern-grown timothy.

Cooling Milk and Cream

A simple method of cooling milk and cream on the farm comprises setting the can into which the milk or cream is strained in a tank of cold water. The contents of the can should be stirred frequently until a temperature of 30 degrees F. or lower is reached. This method, although not as rapid as a surface cooler, does away with the expense of buying a cooler, requires less labor in washing, and the chances for contamination are reduced.

SHIPPING FRUIT AND VEGETABLES

In Certain Eastern Areas Smaller Markets Appear to Be Well Served.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The larger cities receive so great a proportion of the car load shipments of fruits and vegetables in the United States that the rest of the country might seem at first glance to be rather poorly supplied. In 1925, for example, 36 of our principal cities unloaded 56 per cent of the car lot shipments of 16 leading fruits and vegetables. Nevertheless, according to the Department of Agriculture, the distribution of fruits and vegetables throughout the country is more thorough than these figures would indicate. The explanation is largely the motor truck.

Enlarging the Demand

As a matter of fact, in certain eastern areas for which information is available, the smaller markets appear to be well served with fruits and vegetables. An average of from 40 to 45 per cent of the car load receipts of box apples in 17 southern cities in 1925 were shipped out again to the surrounding territory by auto truck or in less than car load shipments.

In general, the machinery for the redistribution of shipped-in fruits and vegetables to the small cities and to the rural population is fairly efficient, and the auto truck is constantly improving it. Thus in Pennsylvania from 10 to 50 per cent of the southern peaches used in 1926 in a number of cities with population ranging from 20,000 to 50,000 were brought in by truck or in less than car lot shipments from Philadelphia or Baltimore.

Southern peaches are on sale in most of the small towns and villages of eastern Pennsylvania during the heavy shipping season. Many dealers in the small cities have their own trucks and make regular trips to the larger markets for supplies.

It has been contended, from the fact that car lot markets, go principally to the larger markets, that more car lot shipments might profitably go to the smaller markets, many of which have cold-storage plants. This may be rather difficult with the more perishable products and these subject to sharp price fluctuations. In small markets it may take a dealer several days to dispose of a car load. Meantime, falling prices in the large markets may enable competitors to bring in supplies by truck or in less than car-load lots at prices which the car lot receiver cannot meet without heavy loss. Lower transportation charges on car lot shipments to small markets may be offset by the greater risk. By using the auto truck, the dealer in the small city often feels he has a better choice of fresh produce, and can be assured of better value in buying it.

Auto Truck Used

In short, much progress has been made in enlarging the demand for fruits and vegetables by effecting a wider and more thorough distribution among the consuming population. Dealers using their own or hired trucks, and hucksters and peddlers who handle locally grown as well as shipped-in produce, have widened the area and increased the intensiveness of distribution. Their task has been made easier by the general development of the fruit and vegetable industry, which has improved the quality of product offered, lessened waste, and made perishables available throughout a longer season.

Students Claim It Is Healthful Driving Cars

Automobile driving is a good exercise and is conducive to good health. That is the conclusion drawn from a series of tests made by the medical students of the University of Wisconsin.

In a bulletin issued following the investigations it is declared that driving gives a great deal of exercise to the arms and shoulder muscles, while the leg muscles get in an important amount of work in operating the brakes and clutch, especially in downtown traffic. The exercise thus gained is not strenuous, but it is regular and this is said to be an additional advantage, according to the bulletin.

It is also pointed out that the car driving of today requires less effort than ever before, but at the same time requires enough effort to provide good exercise.

PRACTICAL HOME ON WHEELS IS BUILT

The photograph shows the odd home on wheels, which was an ordinary truck before it sheltered this family on their tour of the country. It's a wonder they haven't been hauled to court for blocking traffic. However, it folds up when a stop is made in the street.

Use FREEMAN advertising regularly and conservatively and results will surely follow.

Utopia for Pedestrians and Motorists Is Plan

A model community planned to meet the needs of this motor age is to be built within eight miles of New York city. The community, which is to be named Hawthorn, will be located between Paterson and Hackensack, N. J. This interesting project is being promoted by the City Housing corporation and its ultimate cost will be between $200,000 and $250,000. The first unit of the town will be ready in 1930 and will accommodate 500 families.

This settlement will be a self-contained community in which most of the residents will be employed locally or in the neighboring factories and business establishments. Through motor routes will be provided for fast traffic, but roadways of pedestrians with motor vehicles will be minimized by a series of parkways and garden paths by which children and their parents can walk to and from schools and shopping districts without crossing a street.

Unique Pedal-Mobile Is Made Quite Convenient

The photograph shows Luzarte, the famous Spanish painter, in his unique pedal-mobile. Inside are a comfortable cushion seat, his painting tools, provisions and bedding. He will tour all over Europe to sketch. Luzarte's little coupe is propelled like a bicycle—only it's much more comfortable.

First Endurance Run of Auto Was Held in 1901

The first endurance run of an automobile was held in 1901, when A. L. Riker, an early maker of automobiles, started a trip from New York to Buffalo, a distance of less than 500 miles, in his own gasoline model, according to Betty Shannon and Elsie Johns in Liberty Magazine.

"The car was built for 50 miles an hour, but once out of sight of brick and cobblestone it made headway with the greatest difficulty," the authors continue. "This difficulty may be imagined when it is stated that it took from Wednesday morning to Saturday noon to cover the distance from Albany to Herkimer, less than 100 miles. At Rochester the plan was abandoned because of the death of President McKinley."

AUTOMOBILE ITEMS

Columbus had his difficulties, but engine trouble was not one of them.

It was said that the next war would be fought with gas. Correct. The auto war is now on.

The city resident has his choice of being run into by a car or driven crazy by honkers.

The way that casings and tubes are being reinforced in price, the auto owners are having a snap.

It is hardly fair to jump to the conclusion that the girl who is never home is always away on an automobile trip. She may have gone by airplane.

Probably no one else can look any hotter in July than a motorist manipulating a demountable rim tool by the roadside, unless it is the iceman's new helper.

Pete De Paolo, Tony Gulotta and Harry Hartz are outstanding examples of former auto mechanics who have won places in the driver's seat of racing cars.

The Perfect Picnic

Saw a teamster at his midday meal. His table was the earth and his cutlery a rather battered looking ax. The menu consisted of a tin of bully beef, a bottle of tomato sauce and a loaf of bread.

The beef was hacked open with the ax, the neck of the sauce bottle was knocked off, also with the ax, and the bread was torn into lumps in his hands. A bill of cold water washed it down. For simplicity and an entire absence of fuss or frill I'll say that the teamster's methods take the bun—Sydney Billela.
